Eyecare 3000 Contact Lens and Anterior Eye Day 5th September 2010

Eyecare 3000 has been one of the main training events in Scotland over the past 15 years. This inaugural one-day contact lens course will make use of the clinical facilities at Glasgow Caledonian University to bring you hands-on workshops with real patients as well as clinically-relevant lectures delivered by internationally-renowned speakers.

How Much Does It Cost?

The course costs £150 but thanks to our sponsors you can take advantage of a sponsored place for just £50. Simply use the pre-paid voucher enclosed with this invitation (either return it with your application or book online where your voucher will be automatically applied).

How Do I Book?

To book yourself a place or for more details go online to: www.replaylearning.com or call us on 01848 332020. You can also book by completing and returning the enclosed form. Sponsored places will be offered on a first come, first served basis so please book early to avoid disappointment.

Also in Glasgow in September...

Opticians Reconnected

Saturday 4th September 2010

The Eyecare 3000 conference will be preceded on Saturday 4th September 2010 by an Opticians Reconnected dinner sponsored by Glasgow Caledonian University Alumni Department. This free-to-attend informal dinner and drinks will be hosted in the new state-of-the-art Saltire Learning Centre with an optional tour of the Optometry Department and Eye Clinic. The meeting will provide a chance to meet up with friends old and new.

Not a Dry Eye In The House

Monday 6th September 2010

The day after the Eyecare 3000 conference, GCU will host a symposium to celebrate Professor Alan Tomlinson's career. Speakers include Profs William Ridder and Peter Simmons from California and GCU alumni Dr Jennifer Craig (University of Auckland, NZ) and Dr Santosh Khanal (University of Western Sydney, Australia). The symposium will be preceded by a celebratory dinner in the National Piping Centre on the evening of Sunday 5th September 2010. The symposium and dinner can both be booked (at extra cost) by following the link below.
